FAMILY LAW DEPARTMENT

At times of domestic difficulty, the strain on family and relationships can be significant. Despite the best intentions, not all relationships end in a way that makes for satisfactory and easy arrangements.

Whether the issues involve arrangements for children, financial matters, occupation of the family home, domestic violence or social services – sometimes a little timely advice goes a long way to helping to resolve problems.

Our family team here at Pooleys can assess your eligibility for public funding ('legal aid'); we can provide you with the information and advice which you need to help you through what can be a disruptive and confusing time.

The areas on which we advise include:

- Arrangements for children – contact and residence
- Parental Responsibility
- Relocation with children
- Child Protection
- Domestic Violence – Injunctions
- Divorce and Finance
- Civil Partnership dissolutions
- Cohabitation separation
- Mediation
